

IKEA to donate $85,000 in furnishing and design features to Costa Mesa's new Bridge Shelter

In what appears to be a first nationwide, home furnishing giant IKEA will donate furnishing and design features for the new permanent Costa Mesa Bridge Shelter on Airway Avenue that is currently under construction.

Vanessa Flores, the Loyalty Manager of the Costa Mesa IKEA, said she was approached last year by City officials regarding home furnishing solutions for the shelter.

Flores was excited about the opportunity and met with Mayor Katrina Foley, City Manager Lori Ann Farrell Harrison and others to get the project going. Flores confirmed that this will be the first homeless shelter furnished with interior design features by IKEA.

"I'm truly grateful that our collaboration with IKEA this year, to serve the needs of food insecure families with weekly grocery distributions, is expanding to help us furnish and design our new permanent Shelter we will soon open in partnership with Newport Beach," Mayor Katrina Foley said. "Costa Mesa has led the way with our Housing-First approach to assisting those experiencing homelessness and we value this new partner joining our efforts to provide quality care to our most vulnerable residents."

IKEA leaders were impressed by Costa Mesa's approach to addressing homelessness through the Network for Homeless Solutions. This grass roots community collaboration is unique and effective.

That factor was a big selling point in getting the company to offer its support to the Bridge Shelter project, Flores said. IKEA has globally prioritized actions to support leading emergency relief efforts which includes vulnerable groups such as those experiencing homelessness.

Every year, IKEA Costa Mesa selects two initiatives to support in the local community, Flores said. Prior to the pandemic, the local Costa Mesa store selected homelessness and hunger, two initiatives that are big priorities in the community.

“The City of Costa Mesa is excited to be working with IKEA as a corporate partner in this effort to address homelessness,” Assistant City Manager Susan Price said. “The Bridge Shelter is more than just a building, we want to create an environment for healing, inspiration and hope. IKEA has contributed greatly so that this program will be successful.”

IKEA will be donating all home furnishing for the Bridge Shelter communal spaces. The company will be providing the bedding sheets and towels and all of the office furniture, including desks, chairs, office accessories and shelving units.

“We estimate this project to be a little over $85,000 in furniture donations,” Flores said. “We are also donating paint for the sleeping areas, inspirational graphics for the walls, as well as an investment cost of paid staff hours providing our co-workers with the opportunity to be hands-on and volunteer by building the furniture and creating the inspiration.”

“IKEA is honored and privileged to be a part of this effort to support our community. We believe everyone deserves a safe and healthy place to call home, even if it is temporary. We hope this is one of many ways we are able to positively impact Costa Mesa and its future growth.” Market Manager, Laurie Helm stated.

Indeed, IKEA has been a great partner to the City of Costa Mesa, opening up its parking lot to food and toy drives that have been so critical during the COVID-19 pandemic. It recently hosted the city’s annual Snoopy House holiday display.

“They have been such a great partner and we are so thrilled to be working together to ensure our community is well served,” Price concluded.

City names Alexander Gonzalez as new Chief of Staff

City Manager Lori Ann Farrell Harrison announced that Alexander Gonzalez, an experienced government field representative and Navy Veteran, has been hired as the City of Costa Mesa's new Chief of Staff.

"Alex's experience in government makes him uniquely qualified for this job," City Manager Lori Ann Farrell Harrison said. "The residents of Costa Mesa will find him to be a great resource as he assists the Mayor and City Council in addressing concerns from constituents. We are thrilled to welcome him to our team."

Gonzalez was one of numerous candidates who applied for the Chief of Staff position.

"Mr. Gonzalez joins our team with a unique working knowledge of Costa Mesa constituent issues as a long-time resident and former Congressional staff member," Mayor Katrina Foley said. "Couple that with his experience and understanding of Veterans issues, especially those experiencing homelessness, and his multilingual skills, he will right away be able to work on our council priorities."

In this role, Gonzalez will be responsible for managing constituent services, legislative research and analysis and coordination with Federal and State elected officials among other duties.

Gonzalez most recently worked as a Military and Veteran's Field Representative in the Office of former U.S. Representative Harley Rouda, where he engaged with constituents regarding international affairs, trade, defense, intelligence, veteran's affairs and labor issues and collaborated with federal, state and local organizations at the Orange County Veterans Service Office.

He also worked as an Intelligence Specialist with the United States Navy. He received his Bachelor's Degree in Political Science and International Relations with a Minor in Asian Studies from Temple University in Japan. He replaces former Chief of Staff Connor Lock, who left the City in December.

Public Services announces Seung Yang as new City Engineer

The City of Costa Mesa's Public Services Department is pleased to announce the appointment of Seung Yang as the City Engineer.

Seung started with the City as Principal Engineer in January 2020 and assumed the role of Acting City Engineer in December 2020. He has over 20 years of municipal public works and private sector experience. He holds two Master degrees in addition to being a registered Civil Engineer in the State of California.

"As City Engineer, Seung will be managing the Engineering Division which is responsible for all design and construction activities of City infrastructure, including streets, parks and facilities," said Public Service Director Raja Sethuraman. "Seung will be managing the City's Capital Improvement Program, which is approximately $12 million annually."

In his role as the Principal Civil Engineer, Yang he has been coordinating the department's Capital Improvement Program (CIP) ranging from street and parkway improvements to city infrastructure capital improvements. In addition, he oversees a staff of engineers, technicians, and public works inspectors.

"It's a tremendous honor and privilege in being appointed as the City Engineer for the City of Costa Mesa" Yang said. "Costa Mesa is a vibrant and influential city, both economically and socially, in south Orange County. It is our mission to continue and improve upon the task of developing and enhancing our City's critical infrastructure and make tangible advancements to the quality of life for our residents and business community. It is my hope that our collective efforts in the Public Services Department will bring vibrancy and growth to all facets of our beloved City."

Before joining the City of Costa Mesa, Yang served over 20 years in public works municipal engineering and management at private consulting firms and at various cities, including Lynwood, Inglewood, and Commerce.

During that time, he managed and coordinated numerous projects and tasks that consisted of street infrastructure, sewer and storm drain improvements, traffic engineering, planning, inspections, agency coordination, and land development.

Yang is a registered professional civil engineer and traffic engineer and holds a bachelor's of science degree in civil engineering from the University of California, Berkeley and both Masters in Business Administration and Masters in Science degrees from the California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

Costa Mesa wins prestigious LEED Gold certification from U.S. Green Business Council

The City of Costa Mesa has been awarded LEED Gold certification, joining a growing group of more than 100 cities and municipalities from around the world to be certified under the U.S. Green Building Council's LEED for Cities and Communities rating system.

LEED, or Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, was created by USGBC and is the world's most widely used green building rating system. The certification recognizes the city's efforts to implement practical and measurable strategies aimed at improving sustainability and the living standard for residents.

Costa Mesa is one of only four cities in the United States to have received LEED Gold certification using the latest LEED standard, LEED version 4.1. The other three are Orlando, Santa Fe and Las Vegas.

In early 2020, Costa Mesa was named one of 20 local governments to receive additional educational resources and technical support as it pursued LEED for Cities certification. The support and resources throughout the certification process were made possible by Bank of America, which has provided $1.25 million to USGBC's LEED for Cities and Communities program since 2018, supporting a total of 41 U.S. cities and communities to date as they pursue certification.

"I'm so proud of our staff for receiving this LEED certification," Mayor Katrina Foley said. "This achievement demonstrates Costa Mesa's commitment to sustainability, human health and economic prosperity, and that's why we remain a place where people want to live, work and play."

USGBC cited Costa Mesa for its integrative planning and leadership processes, green spaces, transportation performance and policies, water efficiency, energy and greenhouse gas emission management, quality of life and innovation. These practical and measurable strategies and solutions are aimed at improving human and environmental health.

"LEED has been a transformative tool for buildings, and we are now seeing the impact it can have at the city and community level," said Mahesh Ramanujam, president and CEO, USGBC. "By prioritizing issues such as sustainability, resilience, health, green infrastructure and more, Costa Mesa is leading the way to a better world and helping USGBC continue toward our vision of healthy people in healthy places."

Indeed, Costa Mesa has received LEED Gold certification for Fire Station No. 1 and for the Donald Dungan Library.

"As a community that deeply cares about the environment, it is exciting to have Costa Mesa recognized as one of the world's first LEED Gold-certified cities," said Allen Staff, Bank of America Orange County market president. "Bank of America's support for USGBC's LEED for Cities initiative is part of our larger capital deployment commitment to address climate change and build resilience in communities like Costa Mesa.”

The LEED Gold certification was pursued by Salem Afeworki, the city of Costa Mesa’s first Sustainability and Energy Service Manager and Mayor Pro-Tem Andrea Marr, who is a former Navy veteran and current engineer for an energy solutions firm.

“I would like to say thank you to Southern California Edison, Mesa Water District, Costa Mesa Sanitary District, various City Departments and consultants for the data and input they provided to help us achieve recognition as a LEED Gold City,” Afeworki said.

City leaders believe that LEED for Cities and Communities is a great guiding framework that can help staff identify top priorities and foster initiatives that enhance the quality of life. This grant allowed the city to pursue the following initiatives:

- Plan, build, operate and maintain projects that promote inclusive and responsible growth citywide;
- Identify gaps and opportunities in policy or budgetary needs;
- Develop realistic and achievable strategies, tactics and metrics that would allow City staff to compare Costa Mesa with other cities;
- Identity synergies, multi-benefitted projects and initiatives that are cost effective; and
- Create a better framework for collaboration that dismantles silos, increase transparency and cultivates new partnerships.

New COVID-19 testing kiosk to be open Saturdays and Sundays at the Senior Center

The City of Costa Mesa along with the Orange County Health Agency and 360 Clinic has entered into a partnership to offer free COVID-19 testing at the Costa Mesa Senior Center beginning this Saturday Jan. 9 through the end of March.

“This new testing and health kiosk at our Senior Center will allow those who live on the Westside better access to testing and healthcare resources closer to home,” Mayor Katrina Foley said. “Testing for COVID-19 is an important tool to help us get this virus under control, and we are grateful for our partnership with the County and 360 Clinic for helping us make this happen.”

Testing will be available by appointment only at a kiosk at the Senior Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The Costa Mesa Senior Center is at 695 W. 19th St.

The kiosk will provide up to 500 tests a day. Clinicians will be available to answer questions. Clinic staff will check-in patients that have pre-registered on the website and assign a test kit to swab. Results are received within 24-72 hours via text message or email.

Please register at www.360clinic.md and bring a form of ID and insurance card, if available.

Frontline workers and senior citizens with credentials will have priority. Bilingual assistance will be available.

Jennifer Le named Director of Economic and Development Services

City Manager Lori Ann Farrell Harrison has appointed Jennifer Le, a key figure in assisting local businesses navigate the many challenges resulting from COVID-19, as the City's new Director of Economic and Development Services.

"Jennifer has played a critical role as our local businesses attempted to maneuver through the financial challenges related to the pandemic," Farrell Harrison said. "She has been a trusted member of our team and I am thrilled to know she will be leading the Economic and Development Services Department."

Le had been serving as the acting director following the retirement of Barry Curtis on July 31. Prior to that, she served for three years as the second in command of the Department and has worked in planning and local government for over 20 years.

She has demonstrated excellent leadership and expertise during her tenure with the City and has played a vital role in several high profile issues including short-term rentals, oversight of cannabis manufacturing businesses permitted under Measure X and an update to the Housing Element. Most recently, Le has been at the helm of navigating several economic development issues brought on by the pandemic, including assisting South Coast Plaza with the establishment of an outdoor shopping pavilion and outdoor dining for local restaurants.

“I am honored to continue to serve the Costa Mesa community in this new capacity. I appreciate the opportunity not only to continue my work with the City’s leadership group, but also to lead a talented team in the Economic and Development Services Department,” Le said. “We have a number of challenges ahead of us and I embrace the opportunity to help guide the City Council as they make important decisions regarding economic recovery, housing policy, and more.”

Before her arrival in Costa Mesa as the Assistant Director of Development Services in November 2017, she spent 16 years with the City of Orange. She also worked for the County of Ventura and in private consulting prior to that. Her focus on creative solutions and customer service have made her a very valued member of the Costa Mesa team.

Her expertise includes both development services and long-range planning, as well as historic preservation, subdivision, CEQA/NEPA compliance, community outreach, and GIS.

Le has a Bachelor’s degree in Geography/Environmental Studies from UCLA and a Master’s degree in Environmental Science and Management from UC Santa Barbara.

Standard & Poor's Affirms

City of Costa Mesa Outstanding Rating for Lions Park Bonds

The City of Costa Mesa received outstanding financial news recently as Standard & Poor's (S&P) reaffirmed the City's AA+ credit rating for the 2017 Lease Revenue Bonds for the Lions Park Project.

As previously reported, the City's underlying credit rating of AAA remains unchanged and is the highest possible rating issued by a financial services company. The bond rating for the 2017 Lions Park Project bonds is one notch under the City's underlying rating consistent with best practices.

This news comes after Costa Mesa was able to overcome fiscal challenges brought on by the economic downturn related to the unprecedented COVID-19 pandemic for the Fiscal Year ending June 30, 2020.

"This is great news that despite the financial setbacks from the COVID-19 pandemic, we are able to maintain our strong AA+ rating for the 2017 Lease Revenue Bond," Mayor Katrina Foley said. "This is a testament to our talented Finance team and City staff. Congratulations to my fellow Council colleagues and the Finance and Pension Advisory Committee (FiPAC) whose prudent fiscal policies and budget actions helped us achieve this accomplishment, especially former Mayor Pro Tem Stephens served as liaison to the FiPAC for the past four years."

S&P is considered the largest of the country's Big Three credit-rating agencies, which also include Moody's Investors Service and Fitch Ratings. The rating is the direct result of significant research by S&P in discussions with Costa Mesa leadership and finance staff to analyze the City's audited financial statements, procedures and practices.

The S&P report credited the City's responsible management of both its reserves and its debt. Indeed, the report cited numerous reasons for this top rating.

According to the report, S&P "reviewed governance risks and consider them better than the sector standard because of the City's very strong management profile with strong financial policies and practices, and successful economic development efforts."

"I'm so proud of our City Council, the leadership team and staff, especially our Finance team for making the tough choices to balance our budget early on in this crisis," City Manager Lori Ann Farrell Harrison said. "We were very proactive and this outstanding credit rating is a direct result of that. This is a great moment for our entire Costa Mesa team and Finance Director Carol Molina."

Costa Mesa Finance Director Carol Molina was grateful to hear this news.

"This reaffirmation from Standard & Poor's demonstrates the City's strength and commitment to long-term fiscal health," Molina said. "It's an outstanding accomplishment that is achieved through strong leadership and dedicated staff."

S&P stated that the ratings reflect its view of multiple factors including, but not limited to, the following City attributes:

- Very strong economy, with access to a broad and diverse metropolitan statistical area;
- Very strong management, with strong financial policies and practices under our financial management assessment methodology;
- Very strong budgetary flexibility, with an available audited fund balance in fiscal 2018-2019 of 35% of adjusted operating expenditures;
- Very strong liquidity, with total government available cash at 60.9% of total governmental fund expenditures and 34.4x governmental debt service, and access to external liquidity we consider strong;

- Strong debt and contingent liability position, with debt service carrying charges at 1.8% of expenditures and net direct debt that is 16.3% of total governmental fund revenue, as well as low overall net debt at less than 3.0% of market value, but a large pension and other postemployment benefit (OPEB) obligation; and
- Strong institutional framework score, which in sum means that the City's federal single audit results are strong.

State issues new stay-at-home orders in light of rising hospitalization rates

Due to a rise in COVID-19 hospitalization, Governor Gavin Newsom and state public health officials have issued a new regional state-at-home order that will go into effect within 48 hours in regions with less than 15% ICU availability.

Orange County is currently in the Southern California Region, which is anticipated to fall within that category in early December. Once enacted, the orders will last for a minimum of three weeks. The state is taking this action because at the current rate of spread, the statewide hospital system could be significantly overwhelmed by the end of December.

Once in effect, the new orders will require the following to close or remain closed:

- Indoor and outdoor playgrounds
- Indoor recreational facilities
- Hair salons and barbershops
- Personal care services
- Museums, zoos, and aquariums
- Movie theaters
- Wineries
- Bars, breweries, and distilleries
- Family entertainment centers
- Cardrooms and satellite wagering
- Limited services
- Live audience sports
- Amusement parks

The following sectors will have additional modifications in addition to 100% masking and physical distancing:

- Outdoor recreational facilities: Allow outdoor operation only without any food, drink or alcohol sales. Additionally, overnight stays at campgrounds will not be permitted.
- Retail: Allow indoor operation at 20% capacity with entrance metering and no eating or drinking in the stores. Additionally, special hours should be instituted for seniors and others with chronic conditions or compromised immune systems.
- Shopping centers: Allow indoor operation at 20% capacity with entrance metering and no eating or drinking in the stores. Additionally, special hours should be instituted for seniors and others with chronic conditions or compromised immune systems.
- Hotels and lodging: Allow to open for critical infrastructure support only.
- Restaurants: Allow only for take-out, pick-up, or delivery.
- Offices: Allow remote only except for critical infrastructure sectors where remote working is not possible.
- Places of worship and political expression: Allow outdoor services only.
- Entertainment production including professional sports:

Allow operation without live audiences. Additionally, testing protocol and “bubbles” are highly encouraged.

The following sectors are allowed to remain open when a remote option is not possible with appropriate infectious disease preventative measures including 100% masking and physical distancing:

- Critical infrastructure
- Schools that are already open for in-person learning
- Non-urgent medical and dental care
- Child care and pre-K

The governor also announced the state may soon have 327,000 vaccines coming to California in mid December for distribution by priority tier status including health care workers. Other phases to follow shortly thereafter.
